A COMMUNITY IN THE GARDEN

THE MAKING OF Summers Corner

SUMMERVILLE, SC
In Charleston, food is king
Award-winning restaurants | Food festivals | Culinary competitions | The Food Network

3 James Beard Award-Winning Charleston Restaurants

CHARLESTON
WINE + FOOD

Southern Living
TASTE OF CHARLESTON

Lowcountry Oyster Festival

Charleston's Mac & Cheese Cookoff 2014

FIG makes appearance on Best Thing I Ever Ate
Yum, hanger steak and agrodolce
By Stephanie Barna • Follow @stephbarna

Shrimp and Grits Charleston
The vision for Summers Corner.

In modern life there is a yearning for a way to live close to nature, in a place that combines civic life with the natural world — or at least nature tamed. In short, the garden.
There’s a movement afoot.

Actually, there are grassroots movements popping up all over. From community gardens and farm-to-table dining ... to the artisanal movement and the celebration of local arts and crafts. All with the same fundamental objective: to help us reconnect to what’s real and essential. To bring our lives back into balance.
Something’s happening.
A community in a garden.

- The harmonious union of nature and civilization.
- From flower gardens to community gardens.
- A green thread runs through the community, never letting us forget we’re part of a bigger ecology.
A place with a country sensibility.

- Where neighbors are an extension of family.
- Schools, shops and churches are embedded in the fabric of the plan.
- Access to nature is always within sight.
Charleston Wine & Food
Sending you my love from Charleston SC...

You are the love of my life and I cannot wait to spend all my days with you!

The luckiest man alive,

Jean-Paul
Dinner & Conversations
CHEF HECTOR SANTIAGO WILL BE IN THE KITCHEN ADDING SOME LATIN FLAVA TO THE LUNCH + BRUNCH + LATE NITE MENUS

EXPECTED: BURRITOS, PIG HEAD TACOS, COCONUT STEAMED BUNS!
First contract signed!

We are your new neighbors
Erin + Matt Hudson

9-28-15
Simple does it.

the NEW REAL.